

HINTS FOR DESCRIBING A PICTURE

Oxygen Masks

The picture is taken inside the cabin of a passenger aircraft. We see 4 rows of seats so this is probably a regional jet.

What is so special about this picture is that we see fallen out oxygen masks. If during the flight this means that there is an emergence situation, for example a cabin decompression.

But there are no passengers inside the cabin so what we see here is probable just some crew training.

Or perhaps the airplane is being serviced by technical personnel at the moment and this is just a test of the oxygen mask system.

Before each flight the cabin crew demonstrates the way the oxygen masks should be used in case of emergency but personally I have never been in a situation when I had to use one in flight.
